Mrs. Bea Ettinger, is Director of the Center for Continuing Education for Women at Valencia and President of the Consortium. Mrs. Marilyn Crotty assisted with arrangements and introduced Florida Legislators who attended the ceremony which was held at the Cornell Fine Art Center at Rollins College.

Bach Festival, Starring...

Baritone John Reardon, tenor Gene Tucker, mezzo-soprano Elaine Bonazzi and soprano Janice Harsanyi will perform as guest soloists in the 46th Annual Bach Festival to be held Feb. 26, 27 and 28 in Knowles Chapel at Rollins College.

Under the direction of Dr. Ward Woodbury, the 140-voice Bach Choir and the Florida Symphony Orchestra will perform Beethoven's Missa Solemnis, J.S. Bach's Magnificat and his more infrequently performed Easter Oratorio.

A lecture and full program will be devoted to Johann

Christian Bach, Bach's youngest son. The performance of Johann Christian's Gloria at the Festival will be the first time the work has been heard since the 18th century. Dr. Marie Ann Vos, the musicologist who discovered the Gloria manuscript in a Swiss monastery, will present a lecture-recital, "J. Christian Bach Revisited" on Friday morning of the festival.

John Reardon's appearance in the festival will be his second recent one. The international star of opera and oratorio gave his first solo performance in the festival when he was a Rollins College student. A student of piano and voice, he graduated from Rollins in 1952.

Called "one of America's top singing actors" by the New York Times, Reardon has a repertoire of over 100 roles. He is presently touring Africa in a production of "Kismet."

Janice Harsanyi has sung with many of this country's leading orchestras and has performed in numerous festivals, including Saratoga Springs, Meadowbrook and leading Bach festivals in the U.S.

Elaine Bonazzi, who has appeared in leading roles at the New York City Opera, has performed previously in the Bach Festival at Winter Park, as well as those in Bethlehem, Berlin, Berea and Lincoln Center.

Gene Tucker has appeared as soloist with the Pittsburgh, National, St. Louis and Baltimore Symphonies.

Tickets, costing $22.50 for the series of four concerts and one lecture-recital, are now on sale. Early reservations are recommended for the festival, always a sellout. To make reservations, contact the Bach Festival Society, Box 2731, Rollins College, Winter Park.

Twenty-Seven Students Receive Top Honors

Twenty-five Rollins College students have been selected for inclusion in the 1981 volume of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Selection to the annual publication is among the highest honors awarded to students of the college. The honor is based on scholarship, service to community, leadership in student activities and faculty recommendations.

Honorees for 1981 include: Dale Ackerman,

Also included are: Ahmeena Nowall Diab, Orlando; Asunta

Maria Durso, Lake Wales; Lisa Gail Goldman, Nutley, NJ; James Patrick Massa, Taylor, Winter Springs; Steven Earl Todd, Park Forest, IL; Edward Eugene Trunfio, Canton, MA; Arabella Betty Uber, Winter Park; Patricia Anne Wheat, Cocoa Beach; Teresa Lynn Young, Windermere and Carol Ann Zeitlin, North Andover, MA. Pekin, IL; David Lee McClure, Winter Park; Carla Rae Pepperman, Mt. Dora; Jay Conrad Scarlata, New Port

Richey; Harold Richard Balden, a senior political science major from Lexington, Kentucky; Kurt Kleinschmidt, a junior in the Pre-Med program from Sarasota, Florida; Daniel Payne, a junior business and economics major from Seminole, Florida and Teresa Young, a senior history major from Windermere, Florida.

The announcement was made by Rollins English Professor, Dr. Alar Nordstrom, faculty secretary for the honor society.

Six students at Rollins College have been tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national college honor society. The recognition is one of the highest academic honors awarded at Rollins College.

Named as members at the November initiation ceremonies were Nanci Adler, a senior economics major from Barrington, Rhode Island; John Arciero, a senior psychology major from Simsbury, Connecticut; John

Spring's Foreign Films

The Rollins College Cinema Society has announced films for the Winter and Spring quarters at the College, according to Society sponsor and English Department Head Dr. Cary Ser.

The Society presents foreign, art and avant garde films of special interest to film enthusiasts. The Society's costs are supported by membership at $10/year which includes admission to all films in the series. Among the films upcoming are two internationally acclaimed, award winning works, "That Obscure Object of Desire" and "The Tin Drum."

Films scheduled for the Winter and Spring include:

Dodes Ka Din March 5
Spirit of the Beehive March 26
Tin Drum April 9
Picnic at Hanging Rock April 23
Nosferatu April 30

All films are presented in the auditorium of the Bush Science Center on the Rollins campus and begin at 7:30 p.m. Persons interested in membership or wishing to support the society may send their $10 or more membership check, payable to Rollins College Cinema Society, to Campus Box 2666, Rollins College.

"Beer Tugging" Contest

The Miller Brewing Company in conjunction with Schenck Company and Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity will be sponsoring a Lite Tug-of-War contest on Saturday, January 31, 1981. The competition will begin at 12:00 p.m., and will be held at McKean lakefront, Rollins College. The winning teams for this event will be determined by double elimination in which many of Rollins' organizations will participate. Trophies will be awarded to winners following the contest, and Lite Tug-of-War shirts will be given to top teams. This event will be open to all registered students.

Publish your Writing

If you've ever wanted to see your name in print, this may be your chance! Brushing, the literary magazine of Rollins College, is now accepting contributions for the Spring, 1981 issue. Send your literary and artistic masterpieces to Box 2680. Deadline for submissions is February 16, so don't delay!

French Social

The Alliance Francaise of Rollins College will meet Thursday afternoon, February 5, 1981 at 4:00 P.M., at the residence of Mr. & Mrs. J. Dudley Pope, 1013 Lakemont Circle, Winter Park Towers Village, Winter Park, a Social Hour.

"Bachelors" To Read

The "Winter Term with the Writers" program, sponsored by the Rollins College Department of English, will conclude with a public event on February 2.

Rollins College English Professors Jean West and Edwin Granberry will present readings from their own works at a reception at 8 p.m., Monday, February 2, in the French House.

Dr. Granberry and Miss West are former and current holders of the Irving Bachelier Chair at Rollins College, respectively. Miss West will read from her works of poetry and Dr. Granberry will read from his acclaimed short story "A Trip to Czardis."

The programs are free and open to the public. Detailed information is available by contacting the English Department at 646-2000 ext. 2216.

Stone Show

The Cornell Fine Art Center at Rollins College will present a major exhibition by sculptor Jane Armstrong between January 30 and March 1, 1981.

The exhibit will include 20 "Stone Poems" by the artist. The pieces are primarily animal sculptures and abstract forms. The medium for the show is stone which allows for a special focus to be offered for blind and visually impaired persons interested in art.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Friends of Cornell organization and will include special guides from the "Friends" organization to assist persons interested in the exhibition. Miss Armstrong currently works out of her studio in Columbus, North Carolina and has exhibited at numerous colleges and galleries, including the Frank Rehn Gallery in New York City and the Marjorie Parr Gallery in London, England. She will be at Rollins College on January 16 for the official opening of the exhibition.

the Cornell Fine Art Center is free and open to the public. Hours are 10 a.m. - 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday and 1 p.m. - 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday.
